ABOUT ELLTA LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

The Asian Institute of Technology, through Yunus Center and AIT Extension, in collaboration with ELLTA is organizing an International Academic Conference entitled, ‘Perspectives on Leadership, Learning and Social Enterprise in ASIA: Sharpening Focus on Research Collaborations and Publications’.

The core emphasis of the AIT-ELLTA Conference is on Exploring Leadership and Learning Theories in the context of Asia and its core purpose is to explore, recognize, strengthen, and promote theories in Asia in the broader domain of leadership and learning.

The 4th edition of this prestigious International Conference will be held at the Asian Institute of Technology from July 25 – 27, 2107. Previous ELLTA conferences were held in Malaysia (2011, 2012 & 2014), attracting participation of scholars and researchers from 60+ countries across the globe.
Leadership and learning, like various other concepts, are often treated as global. Is it, however, wise to assume that the theories and insights related to these concepts are universal in nature and could be equally applied to all contexts? The question becomes particularly significant when there is also a growing recognition that these theories that claim to have global application mainly originate in different parts of the Western world.

Asia which constitutes a landscape of diverse geographical, cultural, religious, social, socio-economical and socio-political heritage. Most of the civilizations are ancient, and have long-standing traditions of learning and knowledge.

The contexts are unique in their multi-dimensionality, and in terms of the breadth and nature of challenges faced by the region. Such socio-cultural factors are bound to have their impact on the leadership and learning styles, behavior, performance and outcomes that cannot be ignored by taking a simplistic, universal approach.

There is therefore a need to examine/challenge generalizations related to learning and leadership across cultures and geographical boundaries, between East and West, but of course between Eastern contexts as well. The ELLTA Conference 2017 looks at addressing some of these issues and have identified the following themes to be specifically discussed and explored in details during the Conference.
